1. The Complaint fails to state a claim or cause of action cognizable in law or equity.
2. The Complaint fails to allege a cognizable claim for breach of any applicable standard of care.
3. The Complaint may be barred, in whole or in part, by applicable statutes of limitation and/or repose.
4. Standing to sue has not been properly alleged and may be lacking on all or some of the claims.
5. This action may be dismissed and/or transferred under the doctrine of forum non conveniens.
6. No compensable injury has been sufficiently stated or proven.
7. The Complaint fails to sufficiently identify a preparation compounded or dispensed by the Defendant.
8. The Complaint fails to adequately allege injuries or compensable damages that may or may not have been proximately caused by the Defendant.
9. The alleged injuries or damages may have been proximately caused by one or more unforeseeable, independent intervening or superseding events beyond the control of and unrelated to the conduct of the Defendant.
10. The injuries or damages alleged may have been caused or contributed to by pre-existing and/or unrelated medical, genetic and/or environmental conditions, diseases, or illnesses.
11. The injuries or damages alleged may have been caused or contributed to by an idiosyncratic reaction to any compounded or dispensed preparation.
12. The preparation alleged to have caused injury or damage was dispensed and compounded in accordance and consistent with the state of the art in the industry.

13. The alleged injuries or damages may have been caused or contributed to by known risks inherent in certain medical procedures, and that otherwise are open and obvious, or that voluntarily were undertaken, with full knowledge and consent. Such risks therefore may have been assumed and accepted through consenting and engaging in said medical procedures.

14. Adequate warnings and information were available to the medical profession, including any prescribing or administering healthcare provider.

15. The preparations compounded and dispensed were intended to be used and administered only by licensed health care practitioners in the care and treatment of their patients. 19. To the extent that comments (g), (h), (i), (j) and (k) of Section 402A of the Restatement (Second) of Torts and Comment (b) of Section 6 of the Restatement (Third) of Torts are applicable, such provisions may be relied on in defense of this action.

20. Damages, if any, have not been appropriately mitigated.

21. The injuries or damages alleged may have been caused in whole or in part by the purported contributory negligence and/or culpable conduct of others and not as a result of any conduct on the part of the Defendant. Recovery, if any, should be limited or reduced in proportion to the parties' purported comparative fault and in accordance with applicable state law.

22. Any alleged liability of the Defendant is limited to the allowable percentage of alleged culpability found and should be further limited by virtue of the fault of other parties or entities (appearing and non-appearing, named and un-named) and in accordance with applicable state law.

23. The alleged injuries or damages alleged may be attributable to several causes and, accordingly, should be apportioned among the various causes according to the respective contribution of each cause of the harm sustained, if any.

24. The claim should be diminished in whole or in part by any amount paid or fairly allocable to any party that has settled or may settle.

25. Any verdict or judgment must be reduced by those amounts that have or will, with reasonable certainty, replace or indemnify, in whole or in part, for any past or future claimed loss, including from any collateral sources such as insurance, disability, social security, worker's compensation, or employee benefit programs.

33. Notice was not received of any claimed breach of warranty, including any notice potentially required under the Uniform Commercial Code, Section 2-607(e), or by any other applicable federal or state law.

34. Punitive damages are barred because applicable procedures fail to provide specific limits or standards as to the amount of any such award.

35. Punitive damages are barred because applicable procedures do not provide sufficient notice of the type of conduct on which an award of punitive damages may be based.

36. Punitive damages are barred because applicable procedures fail to provide clear, consistent standards for appellate review of an award of punitive damages.

37. Punitive damages are barred because applicable procedures may allow for the consideration of inappropriate evidence, such as wealth, in assessing punitive damages.

38. An award of punitive damages as alleged would violate one or more of the protections provided by the United States Constitution and/or any other applicable state statute or constitution or law.

39. Defendant relies on all applicable defenses afforded it under the Tennessee Products Liability Act of 1978, Tenn. Code Ann. § 29-28-101, et seq.

40. Other defenses may be relied on, including any that may be asserted by others, or that may become available or apparent during proceedings in this case. The right to amend and incorporate such defenses hereby is reserved.
